

SALE!

ON OF

ART!

MATERIALS!

Sixth and Olive Streets,

SOLD.

in Paintings,
Materials.case from a scientific standpoint,
not having been gone home before it was allowed to manage the case

his judgment.

Hanson Disturbed.

the Post-DISPATCH.

N. D. C., March 6.—Senator Hanson was very much disturbed over the fact that Mr. Eddleberger's few days since were intended to be had to understand, requested, and now has it in his power to say that when the names of the association are not being used

Mr. Hutchins will not be among in Accuser's Death.

the Post-DISPATCH.

N. D. C., March 6.—T. J. O'Sullivan, chairman of the Coast Survey last evening, Mr. O'Sullivan is employee who furnished the facts of the case to the Post-DISPATCH.

O'Sullivan's PURPLE ROBE.

of last evening announced that was making calls in the name of a royal purple velvet. The what other words to know if this simplicity.

THE LEADS BILL.

Commerce will hold

meeting probably next week, to discuss bill, and will give a hearing to further to the filling of briefs in his case.

House.

N. D. C., March 6.—Immediately

the house went into a Committee on Finance, Georgia in the state of the Union for the silver question. What the people said, was some legislative and financial

Some legislation that would silver worth 100 cents.

made at the time of the bill that the silver dollar would be the value of gold had proved to be the value of gold dollar was never cents.

ALLEGED LYING.

and Wife Murderer in Danger-

Belleville News.

clock last night a fire broke out in

Grenz-Blatt office on South High

did about $300 damage before it was put out by the department.

The fire by sparks from a fire in the building.

of the voters of Shiloh Valley will candidates for township offices.

on the work of laying the tracks will time next week.

memorial of the battle

the war veterans who live in this house will be held in the hall

Savannah Savings Bank.

incorporation of the East St.

States come up to day.

The corporation is formed to to Edward L. Long, who is a general plumbing business.

shares is limited to 5,000, of which a thousand to be issued.

The balance of the stock is not to be given a call on meeting at their hall.

A large attended.

Chapter No. 106, R. A. M., will convocation this evening at the

a number of White's injury yesterday by some upon him while he was digging.

wing citizens of Belleville will be drawn

petit juries during the week of Court: Charles Glade, beginning April 1st, Wm. Ryan, and C. F. Becker.

the colored man whose wife's

found dead in a well

ago, and who is sup-

not have been

that the authorites there are

will be taken from jail and lynched sent them to the Work-house.

The Bridal Bulletin.

Residence.

210 N. Broadway.

$4000.

Ashley Building

Wyroczenska, 18. Ashley Building on 34th.

Jersey County, Ill.

11th and Spruce Sts.

Frankfort, 53.

St. Louis Avenue.

Benton, 20.

2000 Kinnickinnic Av.

Benton, 26.

2220 Oliver St.

2220 Oliver St.

Garden City, Kan.

Inmann, 24.

3000's Broadway

23rd Street.

3245 Washington

Ave.

21st Street.

1840 State St.

1840 S St.

Bayless, 26.

915 Chouteau Av.

Plymouth, Pa.

A Bad Man.

tion to day

detectives Lawler and arrested a man whom they

Sixth and Olive streets and a suspicious character.

The Four Courts a couple of safe on the ground that he

in the Benton Penitentiary, having been released a few months ago, and that he is not sound of mind, and if that is the case the Senator had better resume his seat in the Senate as soon as possible.

A Call to Kind Hearts.

of the Constitution is reported

'Falon street, where Mark D. Cade

and helpless with his wife in a deli-

and two children unattended,

no food, cost or money for rent,

barely any clothing.

To Be Sold.

State Circuit Court to day or-

the Quincy, Missouri & Pacific

date will be fixed by the Master.

CITY HALL CHAT.

Grants Reconstruction—Protest of the Olive Street Association Notes.

At meeting held this morning, the Board of Public Improvements set March 22 at noon, as the date for opening bids on a number of important contracts for reconstructing streets with granite. The streets to be paved are Market, from Twelfth to Eighteenth; First from Dickson to Franklin;

Commercial, 10th to 12th. The Court House, from Franklin to

Broadway, from Poplar to Constant; Broadway, from Franklin to ave street; Franklin, 11th to 13th. The Market, from Franklin to 12th;

Sixth, Franklin Avenue to Carr-

Morgan, from Thirteenth to Fourteenth;

Main, from Franklin to Chestnut.

The same date was set for opening bids on building the piers and furnishing the iron work for the south approach of the South Bridge.

* * *

THE LATEST NOVELTY!
PATENT
FOLDING
CASH
BOXES!LEVISON & BLYTHE STATIONERY CO.,
218 and 216 North Third St.

MONEY.

New York, March 6. 11 A. M.—The stock market opened strong this morning, showing gains over last evening of 4 to 4 per cent., the latter for Louisville & Nashville, 12th and 13th.

Later, however, the market became weak, and the early advances were lost.

At 11 o'clock, the market is dull and heavy at prices which are generally small fractions below those of the previous day.

The resolution argued that the greatest inconveniences result from structures just time, and that the association desires that the side-walks adjoining the new buildings be completed as far as possible.

Consols closed at 101 1-16 for money and at 101 1-16 for account.

WEEKLY BANK STATEMENT.

New York, March 6.—The weekly bank statement to day shows the following changes: Loans, $1,662,000; deposits, $2,000,000; decrease, $347,000; $3,470,000; circulation, $73,640; reserve, decrease, $2,643,375. The banks now hold $239,383 in excess of the 20 per cent rule.

NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS.

Corrected daily by M. J. Campbell, Banks and brokers, No. 121 North Third Street, St. Louis, Mo.

STOCKS.

Opening.

Highest.

Lowest.

Closing.

STOCKS.

Canada Southern 64 1/2

Canadian Pacific 64 1/2

Central Pacific 64 1/2

C. P. & P. M. & Co. 40 1/2

C. R. I. & F. Co. 140

C. T. & P. M. & Co. 92 1/2

C. T. & P. M. & Co. 92 1/2

C. T. & P. M. & Co. 92 1/2

C. T. & P. M. & Co. 92 1/2

C. T. & P. M. & Co. 92 1/2

C. T. & P. M. & Co. 92 1/2

St. Louis Post-Dispatch
PUBLISHED BY
THE DISPATCH PUBLISHING CO.,
JOSEPH PULITER, President.

[Entered at the Post Office at St. Louis, Mo., as second-class mail matter.]

TERMS OF THE DAILY.

One year, postage paid.....	$9 00
Six months.....	4 50
Three months.....	2 25
One month.....	.85
One month (delivered by carrier).....	.85
By the week (delivered by carrier).....	15

Subscribers who fail to receive their paper regularly will confer a favor upon us by reporting the same to this office by postal card.

THE WEEKLY.

One year, postage paid.....	$1 00
Six months, postage paid.....	.60
All business or news letters or telegrams should be addressed to:

POST-DISPATCH,
515 and 517 Market street, ,

TELEPHONE NUMBERS.

Editorial Rooms.....	501
Business Office.....	558

TWELVE PAGES.

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1886.

AMUSEMENTS TO-NIGHT.

OLYMPIA (Broadway, near Walnut)—Maple's Opera Company.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE (Market, between Broadway and Sixth)—The Black Hawk.

POPE'S (Ninth and Walnut)—Silver King.

POPE'S (Sixth and Walnut)—Eagle's Nest.

STANDARD (Seventh and Walnut)—Haverly's Home Minstrels.

PALACE MUSIC HALL (Sixth, near Franklin avenue)—Rising Sun School (Armeny Building, Seventeenth and Pine)—Open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

MATINEES TO-MORROW.

PEOPLES'—Eagle's Nest.

STANDARD—Haverly's Home Minstrels.

The strained condition of our relations with China leads some one to suggest that the Flower Kingdom now has a strong and respectable navy, and in the improbable event of war we could not do much in the way of demolishing the enemy's ships.

It remains to be seen what the Great Powers will do about the disorderly and turbulent condition of Mount Etna. That historic elevation certainly has very little regard for the status quo ante. The occasion may afford BISMARCK an opportunity to display his boasted "blood and iron" qualities in the work of restoring Italy.

SENATOR HALE has offered a motion, which was agreed to, calling on the Secretary of the Navy for various information concerning the Dolphin, Boston, Atlanta and Chicago. Such information can do no harm and may do good; but it is a political move, and behind the little Senator who made the motion stands the shadowy and directing form of the Plumed Knight.

CHARLES RUSSELL, the English Attorney-General, went to Buckingham Palace to be knighted by the Queen, and is now as mad as a wet hen because Her Majesty postponed the ceremony. If Mr. RUSSELL is impatiently anxious to become a Knight, he ought to come to America and join the Knights of Pythias or the Knights of St. Patrick. There is a luxuriant gorgeousness about an American Knight that is unknown in the old world.

SENATOR LOGAN says that he has offered several educational bills during his long career in the Senate and nobody has attached the slightest importance to them or given them any consideration. Possibly his brother Senators rashly supposed that he knew more about history and pensions than about the matter of education. It is hard to believe that our illustrious Senate would be collectively disinterested or perniciously indifferent to the mighty subjects of geography, grammar and arithmetic.

MR. LABOUCHER should finally succeed in persuading the English people to abolish the House of Lords, it might prove to be a good thing for England, but it would tend to stir up wailing and lamentation among Anglo-American heiresses who love to invest their fortunes in noble alliances. Alien noblemen are now utilized to a considerable extent in manufacturing husbands for wealthy American ladies who cannot find any material at home that attains the proper pitch of personal magnificence and elongated pedigree.

THE Parnellites and the English Radicals mustered 160 votes in favor of LABOUCHER's resolution that the hereditary chamber of legislation is "inconsistent with the principle of representative government." The adverse vote of 202 was cast mainly by Tories, the Liberals abstaining. The large vote that remained silent on this question was about as significant as that which was cast on either side. It plainly says to the House of Lords: "We hold this question under advisement. Your surrenders have saved you for a while longer. Beware."

Lord HARTINGTON's club speech puts him in the same attitude toward GLADSTONE that PARKE occupies—only on the opposite side of the question. Both are waiting and hoping that GLADSTONE will propose a measure which they can support, the one holding himself uncommitted and free to oppose the measure if it should go too far toward home rule, and the other determined to be equally free to oppose it if it should not go far enough in the direction of home rule. Mr. GLADSTONE, in choosing a middle ground between the two, may displease both and be defeated by their opposition. On the other hand, he may carry his point with the support of either and in spite of the other's opposition. The details of his policy are awaited with interest. In the meantime the denials from both sides that there has been any consultation, direct or indirect, between GLADSTONE and PARKE, are plausible and at the same time in keeping with the political position and tact of both leaders.

POST-DISPATCH PRIZES.

Literary circles in England and in this country have recently taken great interest in discussing the question as to which are the hundred greatest books.

In the absence of any recognized tribunal the discussion cannot reach a decision, but it has undoubtedly served a useful purpose in stimulating inquiry into the real merit of books.

The POST-DISPATCH proposes to give its readers an opportunity of testing their literary judgment in the same direction, though on a more satisfactory basis.

We ask our readers to tell us which are the ten greatest books published in this century.

As an inducement to exertion we will give for the three best lists three prizes of $25, $15, and $10, respectively.

The question which list or lists are the best shall be decided by a committee consisting of JOHN N. DYER, Librarian of the Mercantile Library; F. M. CRUNDEN, Librarian of the Public Schools Library, and Prof. J. K. HOSMER of Washington University. Their decision is to be final.

The terms of the competition are to be as follows:

Each list must be accompanied by the name and address of the competitor, not for publication if objected to.

No competitor shall be allowed to send in more than one list. All lists must be in the office of the POST-DISPATCH by noon of Friday, 10 A.M.

THE surface track may be rudely elevated.

There should be a "retreat" for disabled politicians.

It seems to take a wise impressario to know his own prima donna.

As long as opera is HAUKED through the country it is apt to be cheap.

THE California Chimes are losing faith in the infallibility of their "Josh."

THE Texans usually conduct their cooking mains with a couple of pistols.

It distresses Mr. EVARTS to be forced to announce his vote in monosyllables.

HER MAJESTY must have reduced her Italian Opera Company to a peace footing.

It will soon be time for ambitious Senators to begin to puncture each other's booms.

"WHAT'S BUTTERWORTH?" asks the Ohio farmer, who finds out that the price has declined.

It is requiring very tight holding to keep the European status quo ante from getting up and turning over.

CONNECTICUT has eleven living ex-Governors, which shows how hard it is to kill a Connecticut man.

At present the august genius of Senatorial dignity is standing on its hind legs and clawing the ceiling.

It is thought that the recent annual eclipse was the work of a ring. This put the affair under a cloud.

THE beauty about the grave-yard vote is that it can be secured without the usual expense.

THE new gold mountain in Mexico ought to be worth as much to that republic as a bridle and vigorous revolution.

REPORTS of new gold mines should be taken with a grain of salt. Sometimes the salt exists in still larger quantities.

THE spotted angel of peace put in some heavy ticks when RYAN and SULLIVAN shook hands over the windy chasm.

THE rumor that PADDY RYAN is to go to the stage and pose as classic statuary is rousing the jealousy of the Bohemians.

SENATOR JONES should not be called on to give up the billets doz which he may have received from the Detroit charmer.

THE Senate wants more information about the Dolphins; in fact, the Senate is determined to get a good education without paying for it.

HISTORY is becoming a popular form of romantic fiction. The historical novel has died out, but the novel history still flourishes.

WHEN Senator Logan discharging windy discourses on education, there is no danger that the fountain of Senatorial humor will dry up entirely.

IT turned out to be actually true that PATTY and NICKY LEARY are betrothed and will be married in June. They are now spending the honeymoon in travelling.

Lord HARTINGTON's club speech puts him in the same attitude toward GLADSTONE that PARKE occupies—only on the opposite side of the question. Both are waiting and hoping that GLADSTONE will propose a measure which they can support, the one holding himself uncommitted and free to oppose the measure if it should go too far toward home rule, and the other determined to be equally free to oppose it if it should not go far enough in the direction of home rule.

Mr. GLADSTONE, in choosing a middle ground between the two, may displease both and be defeated by their schools of this city. Gen. SHERMAN suggests that she should be provided for in some way by the School Board, and says he would cheerfully dedicate the whole or a part of the $200 a year which he pays as school tax in this city to a fund for the support of superannuated teachers. But as a reason why he should not be expected to contribute to the Scales fund, he refers to the fact that he has been paying school taxes in this city ever since 1830 without receiving a cent of benefit therefrom.

All that the President says of his absolute right to suspend public officers in his discretion is true. It is conceded. He has the executive power. He is bound to see that the public welfare demands that the Executive shall have the power to make absolute and swift suspensions while the Senate is not in session. The Republicans do not deny it. No one who understands our Constitution and our system of government can or would deny it.

Now that the President admits his absolute right to suspend public officers in his discretion is true. It is conceded. He has the executive power. He is bound to see that the public welfare demands that the Executive shall have the power to make absolute and swift suspensions while the Senate is not in session. The Republicans do not deny it. No one who understands our Constitution and our system of government can or would deny it.

The President should put his private confidential papers upon the files of the Department of Justice.

The President and His Party.

From the Galveston News.

It is becoming painfully apparent that the South and Western Democrats are by no means in complete sympathy with the Administration. Before the meeting of Congress the great body of the Democratic party, in contradistinction to the Republicans who were seeking to Administer the South, were in full sympathy with the Administration. Since the meeting of Congress the views of Democrats, especially those members of the party residing in the South and West, seem to have undergone, or to be undergoing, some kind of a change. Outside of the question as to the obligation of the President to submit his papers to the Senate, or as to his right to decline to do so, there is but little difference between the views of Congress and the present Administration. On the other hand, outside of purely administrative policy and as to leading questions of a purely political character, it looks as if the Democrats in Congress were still in opposition.

There is nothing like complete sympathetic feeling between the White House and the majority of the House of Representatives. Mr. Scott of Pennsylvania, the only Democrat who has been in his place the House during the present session to defend the Administration. Doubtless two-thirds of the men who condone him are irretrievably politically, socially and morally. Why? It is not easy to say. His supporters enough to sustain him are high in popularity to-day and will, I fear, be in the odor of sanctity. But Sir Charles, like Col. Baker of an older decade, has happened to get away against the tide of popular opinion, a sin which the English never forgive. In the time of his disgrace the English nation was itching for a scapegoat. It found one in Sir Charles. Doubtless two-thirds of the men who condone him are irretrievably lost to the Administration. On the other hand, outside of purely administrative policy and as to leading questions of a purely political character, it looks as if the Democrats in Congress were still in opposition.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the subject. There is already a popular demand for more work and less talking in Congress.

Mr. EVARTS has expressed some curious ideas about Congressional work. For instance, he is reported as saying that Congress is properly the place for talking and conferring, rather than for much action. If this is true, then Congress is doing exactly what the country ought to expect of it, and Mr. EVARTS himself is a very suitable man for the right sort of Congressional work. But it is not probable that the country will accept Mr. EVARTS' views on the

SOCIETY GOSSIP.

Mr. and Mrs. Cos are located at 3333 Pine street. Johnson of Peoria is visiting Mrs. James Carpenter.

Miss Mollie Tanser at home again from New York.

Marie Van Studdford is visiting Memphis this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Meyer will sail for Europe May 22.

Miss Clara Papin returns this week from Monte Carlo.

Miss Annie Lamp's marriage to Mr. Meyer is announced for April.

Miss Jessie Van Court is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Bland Smith leave this week for Hot Springs.

Mrs. E. C. Ballard of Lexington, Mo., is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. Walter Murphy and Miss Ella Tatum will be married later this month.

Miss Sallie Carter of Kookool is visiting Dr. Carpenter of Chestnut street.

Miss Maude Darby is spending the week with the Misses Fox on Chestnut street.

Miss Adeline New York is visiting her mother, Mrs. Dr. J. B. Johnson.

Miss Nellie Knapp and Mr. Leon Behr will be married in the latter part of April.

Miss Lizzie Ladd is now located for Austin, Tex., where she will visit friends.

Mrs. Ellis Wainwright and Miss Hopkins leave next week for Hot Springs.

Miss Nancy Chadbourne's marriage to Mr. W. H. Moore is expected.

Miss Hope of Washington City is the guest this week of Miss Nannie Johnson.

Mrs. John Ladd is now located with her mother, Mrs. Nannie Johnson.

Miss Farnham will remain several weeks in Kansas City after the beginning of Lent.

Gov. Marmaduke was one of the guests at Mrs. Morrison's German on Monday evening.

Miss Farnham Capen of Vandeventer place will give a large dancing party on Tuesday evening.

Miss Anna L. Veltis entertained the Busy Bee Club on Thursday afternoon in very pretty style.

Mrs. Samuel Highleyman returned this week from a visit to her brother, Governor Hull of Iowa.

Dr. Birch Logan of Alabama is visiting his wife, Mrs. Barron, of Tenth and Olive streets.

Mr. E. D. Hayward spent last week in the city attending the Convention of Civil Engineers.

Mr. Thos. J. Scott is in New Mexico, and very much pleased with the climate, and company.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Jones left this week for New York city, which will be their home in future.

Mrs. Lucy V. Ames was expected this week from Utica to visit her daughter, Mrs. Henry Turner.

Miss Alberta Gallatin (Jenkins) was hand-somely dressed while in Mobile by Mrs. Henry Bowes.

Mrs. Ashley D. Scott has taken possession of her new handsome home in Vandeventer.

Mrs. Davis of Louisville, Ky., arrived this week to visit her daughter, Mrs. Monks of Chestnut street.

Mrs. Hunter Smith has been the recipient of many presents from his St. Louis friends during the week.

Mrs. Chasbourne of Washington avenue, with her daughter, is spending the spring months in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kimbrough have returned from their bridal tour and are at the Southern Hotel for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lawenworth, who has been visiting Miss Marie Jones, is now with her in St. Charles.

Mr. John O. Delaney had a box at the Opera House last week, and gave a theater party each evening.

Miss Rebecca Lewis is spoken of by the Kansas City Times as one of the most popular belles of the Crossroads.

Miss Maude Hopkins' marriage to Mr. Louis Fess, one of the most popular Louisville fops, will take place April 28.

Miss Ashton, who has two daughters, moved from Chestnut street and taken a house No. 3350 Lindell avenue.

Miss Shadrack, while visiting Chicago a fortnight ago, was nearly destroyed by a fire, but has not been able to return to the city.

Mrs. C. P. Chouteau and her daughter, Miss Nannie Chouteau, left this week to visit Mrs. George F. Gandy in New Orleans.

Miss Frank Riddle entertained a small party of friends at luncheon on Thursday, at her pretty new home at Cabanne place.

Miss Lou Dalmeyer of Jefferson City will remain in the city until the end of the month, Mrs. Herman Dalmeyer of 2251 Taylor street.

Miss Belle Allen's party last week was very pretty, the Kate Greenaway costumes of the girls being very unique and picturesque.

Miss Mary and Mrs. Charles Garth, Mrs. Garth, and Miss Annie Garth are enjoying the Mardi Gras festivities at New Orleans.

Mr. Dr. Morton, wife of the German consul, has been in the city for the past few days, and receives her friends on Tuesdays.

Miss M. E. Patterson of Washington City, daughter of the late Mr. L. Patterson, remains in the city, and is the latest of the Planners' Hostess.

Mrs. Randall, who has recently fitted up a beautiful new home on Chestnut street, will go to New York in the summer to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. William cannot evade his visitors by any means, as he seems to be a non-resident.

Mr. Miller, whose salary on $20,000 to $30,000 a year, has been raised after his election to the second class in Washington University, thus reduces his expenses to a minimum.

Mr. Anderson's father is an American, a native of Ireland, is a successful manufacturer.

—James F. Powers, the Rast Soldier's company, was never, it is believed, a member of the Waterbury Guard.

The Great Risk management is not pay to open it on those days, the agent of the Connecticut Mutual, however, is ready to give as to the amount of mortgages on his life.

—John A. — a local entrepreneur, was born in 1875, in the night of Aug. 8, 1875, in train robbers.

—William cannot evade his visitors by any means, as he seems to be a non-resident.

Mr. Miller, whose salary on $20,000 to $30,000 a year, has been raised after his election to the second class in Washington University, thus reduces his expenses to a minimum.

—In the case you mention, A divide the stakes, unless as is now arranged, had but two men won at the lower number of pounds in deal should win.

—The game called Sancho Pedro, the called the Don, the Sancho.

—It is the same as Sancho Pedro, a step or two game besides points in the score.

—According to Johnson's "Art of Chess," the half-pawn advantage of Louis XIV. of France over the King of England was gained by writing to Simonsen & York.

—W. H. Watterson, a newspaper man, has so far recovered from his illness that we may, without fear of contradiction, state that he is the bogus simplicity of that month brought on by his illness.

—A sad downfall.

—Players will hear with mingled regret of the fall of one of the prominent members of the club, and the outside curve, and have concern as Fish Tush in an opera

For use in flats.

—New.

—The people in large cities can no longer "God Bless Our Home," nor will probably have to supply more than reading "God Bless Our Home."

—Public Domain Robbers.

—Tribune (Rep.).

—To be congratulated upon the progress bids fair to accomplish by means of land grants. The day of

and died is over.

—Mr. W. C. Steigens.

—Merchants wishing to contract for in the Post-DISPATCH. Telephone many friends who have been won by her kind and gracious manner who regret her departure.

—Mrs. Johnson of Peoria is visiting Mrs. James Carpenter.

—Miss Mollie Tanser at home again from New York.

—Miss Caroline Van Studdford is visiting Memphis this week.

—Mr. and Mrs. Philip Meyer will sail for Europe May 22.

—Miss Clara Papin returns this week from Monte Carlo.

—Miss Annie Lamp's marriage to Mr. Meyer is announced for April.

—Miss Jessie Van Court is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Bland Smith leave this week for Hot Springs.

—Mrs. E. C. Ballard of Lexington, Mo., is visiting friends in the city.

—Mr. Walter Murphy and Miss Ella Tatum will be married later this month.

—Miss Sallie Carter of Kookool is visiting Dr. Carpenter of Chestnut street.

—Miss Maude Darby is spending the week with the Misses Fox on Chestnut street.

—Miss Adeline New York is visiting her mother, Mrs. Dr. J. B. Johnson.

—Miss Hope of Washington City is the guest this week of Miss Nannie Johnson.

—Mrs. John Ladd is now located with her mother, Mrs. Nannie Johnson.

—Miss Farnham will remain several weeks in Kansas City after the beginning of Lent.

—Gov. Marmaduke was one of the guests at Mrs. Morrison's German on Monday evening.

—Miss Farnham Capen of Vandeventer place will give a large dancing party on Tuesday evening.

—Miss Anna L. Veltis entertained the Busy Bee Club on Thursday afternoon in very pretty style.

—Mrs. Samuel Highleyman returned this week from a visit to her brother, Governor Hull of Iowa.

—Dr. Birch Logan of Alabama is visiting his wife, Mrs. Barron, of Tenth and Olive streets.

—Mr. E. D. Hayward spent last week in the city attending the Convention of Civil Engineers.

—Mr. Thos. J. Scott is in New Mexico, and very much pleased with the climate, and company.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wright Jones left this week for New York city, which will be their home in future.

—Mrs. Lucy V. Ames was expected this week from Utica to visit her daughter, Mrs. Henry Turner.

—Miss Alberta Gallatin (Jenkins) was hand-somely dressed while in Mobile by Mrs. Henry Bowes.

—Mrs. Ashley D. Scott has taken possession of her new handsome home in Vandeventer.

—Mrs. Davis of Louisville, Ky., arrived this week to visit her daughter, Mrs. Monks of Chestnut street.

—Mrs. Hunter Smith has been the recipient of many presents from his St. Louis friends during the week.

—Mrs. Chasbourne of Washington avenue, with her daughter, is spending the spring months in the city.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kimbrough have returned from their bridal tour and are at the Southern Hotel for the present.

—Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lawenworth, who has been visiting Miss Marie Jones, is now with her in St. Charles.

—Mr. John O. Delaney had a box at the Opera House last week, and gave a theater party each evening.

—Miss Rebecca Lewis is spoken of by the Kansas City Times as one of the most popular belles of the Crossroads.

—Miss Maude Hopkins' marriage to Mr. Louis Fess, one of the most popular Louisville fops, will take place April 28.

—Miss Ashton, who has two daughters, moved from Chestnut street and taken a house No. 3350 Lindell avenue.

—Miss Shadrack, while visiting Chicago a fortnight ago, was nearly destroyed by a fire, but has not been able to return to the city.

—Mrs. C. P. Chouteau and her daughter, Miss Nannie Chouteau, left this week to visit Mrs. George F. Gandy in New Orleans.

—Miss Frank Riddle entertained a small party of friends at luncheon on Thursday, at her pretty new home at Cabanne place.

—Miss Lou Dalmeyer of Jefferson City will remain in the city until the end of the month, Mrs. Herman Dalmeyer of 2251 Taylor street.

—Miss Belle Allen's party last week was very pretty, the Kate Greenaway costumes of the girls being very unique and picturesque.

—Miss Mary and Mrs. Charles Garth, Mrs. Garth, and Miss Annie Garth are enjoying the Mardi Gras festivities at New Orleans.

—Mr. Dr. Morton, wife of the German consul, has been in the city for the past few days, and receives her friends on Tuesdays.

—Miss M. E. Patterson of Washington City, daughter of the late Mr. L. Patterson, remains in the city, and is the latest of the Planners' Hostess.

—Mrs. Randall, who has recently fitted up a beautiful new home on Chestnut street, will go to New York in the summer to reside.

—Mr. and Mrs. William cannot evade his visitors by any means, as he seems to be a non-resident.

—Mr. Miller, whose salary on $20,000 to $30,000 a year, has been raised after his election to the second class in Washington University, thus reduces his expenses to a minimum.

—The game called Sancho Pedro, the called the Don, the Sancho.

—It is the same as Sancho Pedro, a step or two game besides points in the score.

—According to Johnson's "Art of Chess," the half-pawn advantage of Louis XIV. of France over the King of England was gained by writing to Simonsen & York.

—W. H. Watterson, a newspaper man, has so far recovered from his illness that we may, without fear of contradiction, state that he is the bogus simplicity of that month brought on by his illness.

—A sad downfall.

—Players will hear with mingled regret of the fall of one of the prominent members of the club, and the outside curve, and have concern as Fish Tush in an opera

For use in flats.

—New.

—The people in large cities can no longer "God Bless Our Home," nor will probably have to supply more than reading "God Bless Our Home."

—Public Domain Robbers.

—Tribune (Rep.).

—To be congratulated upon the progress bids fair to accomplish by means of land grants. The day of

and

HE-NO TEA
BEATER.

St. Louis Tea Company, 100 N. Fifth St., will sell each pound of tea at 40c per pound. Price for best granulated sugar, $1. All coffee reduced 50c per pound.

F. W. GOMERIN, PHOTOGRAPHER,
Twelfth and Washington Avenue.
Highest prize awarded at National Exhibition, and gold medal awarded at Paris Exposition, and gold medal awarded at the World's Fair. Special Subjects.

Photo to Crayon and Pastel work.

CITY NEWS.

Gentlemen, much in your own interest, and a little in their own, D. Crawford & Co. invite you to leave your measure for a new spring suit with us, and then have it made up in a suit of "fancy," but facts will be dug out, and facts are only too fastening, for the city of Henderson is "a thing of beauty" and a source of pardonable pride to its 10,000 citizens. The city is located on a high bank of the Ohio River, about midway between Louisville and Cairo. By referring to the map it will be seen that the railroad comes from the north, passes through the city, and goes to the south, direct, the other to St. Louis, the largest and most important city on the Mississippi River. The city has an excellent system of drainage, and is a most delightfully clean and healthy place. The streets are one-half paved, and on either side, as one passes, handsome public and private buildings are to be seen. The people here are a wonderful change.

"In vain to seek a powder that defies detection, but use Pozzoni's to improve the complexion. For sale by all druggists and fancy goods dealers.

Furniture. Beautiful designs and workmanship unsurpassed. Buy from the makers, GUERNSEY FURNITURE CO., 304, 306, 308 Locust.

Dr. E. C. Chase. 92 Olive street. Set of teeth, $5.

PRIVATE masters skillfully treated and medicine furnished. Dr. Dinsabier, 51 Pine street.

DR. WHITTIER, 617 St. Charles street, cure diseases of indiscipline, excesses, indulgences. Call or write.

BOYS' SUITS MADE TO ORDER

From Woolens You Cannot Find in Clothing Houses.

The materials from which we are making boys' suits to order are selected from the most reliable tailoring department and cannot be duplicated in any of the clothing houses of St. Louis.

MILLS & AVERILL,
S. E. Corner Broadway and Pine.

HESSE & CULBERTSON, have a lot of fine clocks at positive bargains. 21 North Fourth street.

THE READING REORGANIZATION.

An Official Statement of Gowen's Negotiations with the Syndicate.

NEW YORK, March 6.—This morning, Gowen sent a cable to the public issued by the Drexel-Morgan, $15,000,000 Building railroad reorganizing syndicate, which apparently denies that the syndicate has surrendered to President Gowen or that any changes have been made in the original "grand plan" of the syndicate, has provoked sharp discussion in the streets, and yesterday a gentleman who stands close to Mr. Gowen, and is known privy to all the recent negotiations between the conflicting Reading interests, consented to tell something of his views on the transaction, of which hitherto the public has been practically nothing, objecting to the denials of the syndicate, which had approached Mr. Gowen to gain an alliance with him, it is said, technically true, Gowen himself was not approached. But Austin Corbin, his friend and financial supporter, was prominent member of the syndicate sought by Mr. Gowen. After it was admitted that he and Mr. Gowen were in close business relations, and that Gowen was a member of the syndicate, it was said that he had approached Mr. Gowen to gain an alliance with him from the start. A fact, said this gentleman to Mr. Corbin, and in private, that he had a $1,000,000 interest in the syndicate, but he served him for but. Mr. Corbin was firm. As an interested man, he said, he could not make the information extend so far as to be deceptive. President Gowen and other friends to whom he has spoken, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have. This is the first time the sound to the syndicate, but, finally, after all other overtures had been made, he said, Mr. Gowen, if he thought it best, and learn just what Mr. Corbin did, and the demands of the syndicate, and then, if he could, he would be to deceive President Gowen and other friends to whom he has spoken, however, if the syndicate deserved it, and Mr. Gowen approved of the alliance he would have.

The mission to him was it was an oversight and an accident that he had not been involved in the great plan, and he had counted on him from the start. A fact, said this gentleman to Mr. Corbin, and in private, that he had a $1,000,000 interest in the syndicate, but he served him for but. Mr. Corbin was firm. As an interested man, he said, he could not make the information extend so far as to be deceptive. President Gowen and other friends to whom he has spoken, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

The mission to him was it was an oversight and an accident that he had not been involved in the great plan, and he had counted on him from the start. A fact, said this gentleman to Mr. Corbin, and in private, that he had a $1,000,000 interest in the syndicate, but he served him for but. Mr. Corbin was firm. As an interested man, he said, he could not make the information extend so far as to be deceptive. President Gowen and other friends to whom he has spoken, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr. Gowen, however, if the syndicate deserved it, would have approved of the alliance he would have.

Mr

NOTICES.

TICKET-The annual meeting of the St. Louis Lead and Oil Company will be held at the office of the company, March 11, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

W. H. PULIFER, President.

Louis & Pacific Railway.

Mo., February 20, 1886.—The Board of Directors of this company, at their general office of the company, March 9, at 2 o'clock p.m., will receive the stockholders of the Illinois Railroad Company, for the election of directors, and for the transaction of such other business connected with the affairs of the company, which will be held at room 9, Third floor, 12th and Locust streets, St. Louis, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

F. NESET, President, Secretary.

COMPANY'S RELIABLE,
DS GARDEN FARM
FIELD

ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE
S COCOA
BREAKFAST.

I know of the natural laws and application of the nutritive properties of the fine Cocoa, Mr. Epp's has provided us with many heavy doctors' bills. It can gradually built up strong and healthy disease. Fluids are good for the weak point.
We may escape
the property nourished frame.

boring water or milk. Sold only by Chemists.

Homoeopathic Chemists,

London, England.

College of Midwifery

AND

LYING-IN INSTITUTE.

The only institute of the kind in the world, which is connected with a Lying-in Hospital, will receive and theoretical lessons, and students admitted. The regular course March and April.

pect that confidencies can be
DR. H. NESET, President,
1230 Chestnut avenue.

DOCTOR

ITTER

Charles St., St. Louis, Mo.

advised of three medical colleges in the treatment of Chronic ailments, as city papers show and all old

Countrymen, though it is inconvenient to visit the city for these diseases, there does exist a curative for all.

Debt, Mental and Weakeness, arising from excessive fatigue, nervousness,

of the following effect:

Nervousness, Palpitations,

Blotches, Eruption,

Ulcers, Painful Swellings,

Falling Hair,

disorders, and

discharges promptly cured

and removed, privately, safely, and painlessly.

roat, Nose, Lung Diseases,

and Acquired Weaknesses of individuals, and especially that a physician paying particular attention to these diseases are important. In this edition of GOOD READING, we are surely glad to inform our readers, and knowing what to do, NO EX-

TRADE.

cases arising, the charges are kept

as low as possible.

If you want to know more about our practice, call on us.

guide

and binding. Sealed for 50¢ in stamp. Over fifty wonderful pages life: art, music, the following and much more. We have married. Married: womanhood with its joys and sorrows, the joys, the sorrows, the

and the sorrows, the

THE CAVALRY.

A SHORT HISTORY OF A CRACK LOCAL MILITARY COMPANY.

Organization and Present Membership of the St. Louis Light Cavalry—Company Traditions—Feats of Horsemanship—A Sketch of the Command.

The St. Louis Light Cavalry Association is one of the very few organizations of its kind west of New York which can boast of more than a passing season's success. Organized in the summer of 1878 by Capt. C. Jeff Clark, a well-known gentleman on "Change," it has enjoyed a harmonious and successful existence, both in the social and military sense, from the organization up to the present day, and it can justly claim first place among local organizations, on account of its surpassing excellence in the many details which go to make up a crack military company. The financial strength and social standing of the members, the prominent figures on the honorary members' list of the Cavalry Company, and the strong personal character of the members, speak well for it an enviable distinction. As compared with other commands at the Armory, the Cavalry Company is reputationally the best, but aside from the fact that all applicants for membership are required to pass a certain military standard, such as to be that previous to entering the command of its active members had evinced a desire to drill for hours and a desire to trod in the Maudlin mud, the rank and file of the company have toned them down into a corps of cavalry men and soldiers, and all of the boys, rather than military parades have it, but a distinct interest in their duties as well as the large weekly attendance at drill

CAPT. E. L. HENRY. Capt. Clark was the Cavalry Company's first commander. Jeff left the company and this city some time since. Capt. Clark had been at the Armory of punishment inflicted by him upon disobedient subordinates, he must have been an unattractive and unpopular person. At all events, the hard military principles instilled into the original members of the company have borne excellent fruit in the splendid form and drill of the present organization. Col. O'Neill, first president of the company, spanked off the Cavalry Company. He was a famous rider in the cavalry days of the command when cavalry tournaments and feats of fancy horsemanship were the rage and, company tradition has it that Capt. Clarkfield caused of the prizewinners in all contests, and especially in the regular army, in all tournaments in which he entered. Associated with Capt. Clark and Capt. Vanfield in the command of the company was H. M. Flinn, who acted as Second Lieutenant.